Chairman Powell:

I am amazed at the tone of violence on television. It has gotten completely out of hand. We DO NOT watch any sit-coms for their scrips are so incorporated with violence in the form of verbal abuse, physical abuse, demeaning and degrading comments, lack of awe for the human race as shown by the bloody mutilation of bodies and discarding humans as though they were a piece of trash.

I purchase my own DVDs for the violent and sexual trash shown in TV movies either TV produced or Hollywood are an offense to both my mind and body!

Commercials have become worse than regular TV. They are always sexual and violent.. Children should never be allowed to watch TV unsupervised...it's similar to giving them a loaded gun to play with...what parents would do that... Unfortunately, those wishing for a cheap babysitter at the expense of their children's mental health.

Even in baby commercials, there is violence in the form of verbal abuse, rudeness, sexy overtures, etc. etc. etc.

WHEN DOES IT STOP? IT ALWAYS ABOUT THE MONEY...SHOW ME THE MONEY...BUT what about the minds of our future generations.. You can see in the last two generations of children how immoral and violent we as a society has become...the TV and media only care about sensationalism and making money at ANY ONE'S EXPENSE..

Sincerely,

Faye Cromwell

I would like to express my concerns on the violence and indecency of TV. My family doesn't even watch regular TV because of these concerns. Instead we watch select programs on the Learning Channel, Discovery, History Channel or Animal Planet that educate or hold to the values we want our children to learn. Even these channels are not all the time the best but have more learning than others. I would you to stop allowing trash TV and start promoting family TV that helps instill values and charcter.

Commissioner Abernathy:

I am opposed to allowing my children to watch violence on television. The news media shows enough violence to last each person a lifetime. This violent influence observed by children on television today affects them negatively. Children do not know what to do with the feelings they have after watching violence on television. Many of the children have nightmares, as in my 11 year-old daughter's case. Some children act out the violent behaviors on other children. We wonder why society today has no respect or boundaries with regard to other people and their property. We, as a society need to be more eliminate the violence aired on our television stations.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Lori A. Henry
